weddings during covid

Attending a wedding in 2021 looks a little different than what you may be used to.

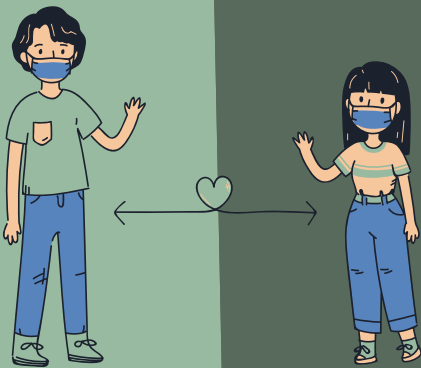

We know you might have questions and want you to have as much information as possible so you know what to expect while attending a wedding during a pandemic.

KEEP YOUR DISTANCE

Unfortunately, coronavirus spreads easily from person to person, so it's imperative you keep your distance from others. We know it's sad you won't be able to give your loved ones a congratulatory hug, but it's more important to keep everyone safe.

Remember: you can always hug once it's safe again. As a wedding guest, it's best not to put the couple in an uncomfortable situation by encroaching on their personal space. This goes for other guests too.

Remain six feet apart for as much of the wedding as you can (during the ceremony, during dinner, and during the reception). It may be challenging, but with a little extra care, you can still celebrate with your friends and family from a safe distance.

WASH YOUR HANDS OFTEN

Some health experts believe coronavirus can be contracted from surfaces, so it's important to wash and sanitize your hands as often as possible. Sanitation stations will be provided throughout the venue. If you use the bathroom, wear a mask and wash your hands with soap and warm water for 20 seconds.

BE AWARE & RESPECT SIGNAGE AT THE WEDDING VENUE

While you're at the wedding, respect the signage that the venue, vendors or couples provide. If there's a lane of one-way traffic, walk in the assigned direction. Similarly, follow guidelines on programs, menus, seating charts or any other signs at the wedding. The couple and their team likely put a lot of time and effort into making the wedding as safe as possible, so be sure to respect their wishes.

BE RESPECTFUL OF THE VENDORS

Wedding vendors are going above and beyond to try and make COVID weddings as special as possible. Be mindful of the pros throughout the day so they can do their work in a safe manner. Some basic rules to bear in mind include keeping your mask on when you're near anyone working, being mindful of seating arrangements, limiting contact at the bar and at other decor areas. Doing so will make vendors feel safe and able to focus on the couple's day and your guest experience.

UNDERSTAND THE RISK

Even though wearing masks, washing hands and social distancing help curb the spread of the virus, there's still a chance of contracting it from someone who is asymptomatic if you attend a gathering. Make sure you understand this before going to a wedding and gauge your comfort with the level of risk involved.

HAVE FUN!

Ditch the sweats for a day and get dressed up! Eat some great food and cheers to the happy couple for this exciting new adventure they are starting!
